

Richard Wright - Wet Dream

Wet Dream 22nd September 1978

“Pink's Song” (R. Wright, J. Wright)

Quiet, smiling friend of mine
Thrown into our lives
You gave everything you could
Saw through our disguise.

I had to stay
I could not leave
Give me time so I can breathe
Give me time to be at ease.

Patiently, you watched us play
Parts you'd seen before
Even then, we sometimes asked
Would you keep us for?

Caught between the tangled web
You helped set us free
Sadly, then, you lost yourself
So you had to leave.

And I must go, be on my way.

Let me go, I cannot stay
Let me go, I must not stay.

And I must go, be on my way
Let me go, I cannot stay
Let me go, I cannot stay.
